

January 14, 1974

20 years ago. It hasn't taken quite 20 years to destroy Vietnam. It hasn't taken 20 years to get a space program operation. But it's taking longer than 20 years for people to acknowledge that all children should have an opportunity to go to school. Buses are a part of American life in this country and I wonder, I wonder if the introducer of the resolution would answer a question or two for me.

PRESIDENT: Senator Carpenter, will you yield to the question?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Senator Carpenter, and I know the answers to some of these questions but I want the Body to be reminded of what Senator Carpenter really is and you'll see how out of character for him this resolution is. Do you think that education in America.....

(End of Belt #5)